2.5.2 Events for local farmers and food producers to connect and transfer knowledge

Universitas Sumatera Utara (USU) is realizing a collaborative vision by providing a platform for local farmers and food producers to connect and share knowledge through dynamic community service activities. This event is not just a meeting, but also a valuable opportunity for agricultural industry players to build strong partnerships and expand their professional networks. Through in-depth discussions and question and answer sessions, they can deepen their understanding of the latest techniques, overcome common challenges, and create innovations that advance the local agricultural sector. This initiative not only enriches the skills and knowledge of the participants, but also forms a strong and highly competitive community in achieving common goals for sustainable agriculture in North Sumatra.
